NAME IT TO TAME IT

How am I feeling?

Start in the middle with the big feeling, then move outwards to find the word that fits best. It is normal to feel more than one thing at once. All feelings are welcome here.

Things I can ask myself

- Where do I notice this feeling in my body?
- What happened just before I felt this way?
- How big is this feeling right now, from 1 to 10?
- What might help me right now?

Guilt or shame?

Guilt says: "I did something wrong."
Shame says: "Something is wrong with me."
Guilt can help us make things right.
Shame needs kindness, not blame.

Need to talk to someone now?

You are not alone. These services are confidential and there for you any time, day or night.

PIETA
Call 1800 247 247
Text HELP to 51444

SAMARITANS
Call 116 123
Email
jo@samaritans.ie

CHILDLINE
Call 1800 66 66 66
Chat at childline.ie

TEXT 50808
Text HELLO to 50808
Free, any time

If you or someone else is in danger right now, call 999 or 112.

NAME IT TO TAME IT

What does this feeling mean?

Short, simple meanings for every feeling on the wheel. There is no right or wrong way to feel.

Happy

Feeling good, light and pleased with how things are.

excited	Full of energy because something good is happening or coming.
proud	Feeling good about something you did, or someone you care about.
grateful	Thankful for something or someone in your life.
confident	Believing in yourself and what you can do.
playful	Wanting to have fun, joke around and be silly.

Calm

Feeling settled, steady and not rushed.

relaxed	Your body and mind feel loose and at ease.
safe	Feeling protected, like nothing bad will happen.
hopeful	Believing that things can get better.
content	Happy with how things are right now.
peaceful	Quiet and still on the inside.

Loved

Feeling cared about and knowing you matter to others.

included	Being part of the group, not left on the outside.
accepted	Being liked for who you really are.
cared for	Knowing someone is looking out for you.
trusted	Others believe in you and count on you.
close	Feeling connected to someone.

Surprised

Caught off guard by something you did not expect.

shocked	Very surprised, often by something big or upsetting.
confused	Not sure what is going on or what to think.
amazed	Surprised in a good way, full of wonder.
startled	A sudden jump or fright from something unexpected.
unsure	Not knowing what to do or what will happen next.

Scared

Feeling that something bad or dangerous might happen.

anxious	Worried about what might happen, often with a tight or jumpy body.
nervous	Jittery before something important, like a test or a match.
overwhelmed	Like there is too much to handle all at once.
insecure	Doubting yourself or worrying you are not good enough.
panicky	A rush of fear that makes it hard to think clearly.

Sad

Feeling low or heavy, often after a loss or a let down.

lonely	Wishing for more connection, even when people are around.
disappointed	When something did not turn out the way you hoped.
hurt	Feeling wounded by what someone said or did.
left out	Not being included when others are.
hopeless	Like things will never get better. Please tell someone you trust.

Angry

A strong feeling when something seems unfair or wrong.

frustrated	When you keep getting blocked from what you want or need.
annoyed	A little bit angry about something irritating.
jealous	Wanting what someone else has, or fearing you will lose someone.
resentful	Staying angry for a long time about being treated unfairly.
betrayed	Hurt and angry because someone you trusted let you down.

Guilty

Feeling bad because you think you did something wrong.

ashamed	Feeling bad about who you are, not just what you did.
embarrassed	Feeling silly or exposed in front of other people.
regretful	Wishing you had done something differently.
sorry	Wanting to make things right with someone.
awkward	Uncomfortable and unsure how to act.